The TLG site provides access to three sets of data:

1. The TLG Canon of Authors and Works which contains bibliographical information about all authors included in the TLG.
2. The Abridged TLG which includes a representative selection of texts (approximately 1,000 works) with practically all the features of the TLG search engine.
3. The Full TLG Corpus which requires subscription.

The Abridged TLG and the Canon pages are free to all users and do not require a subscription.

A user profile is required to access the site (including open access materials)

If you wish to access the TLG, you must create a user profile.

Users connecting via institutional IPs are automatically directed to the Full corpus. All other users are given access to the open access parts of the site.

If you are an institutional user, you must connect from an institutional IP in order to receive access to the Full Corpus. If you connect off-campus, you need to authenticate via your institutional proxy/VPN first and then log into your TLG account.

To create an account, click on Login | Register

A drop down menu will appear. Click on register to create a user profile.

Click on Remember me so that the system will remember your login next time you return to use the TLG.

TLG Subscriptions

The TLG® Digital Library is available to individuals and institutions by subscription (one or five-years). At the end of the licensing period, users may elect to cancel their subscription or renew it.

A smaller corpus (Abridged TLG®) is open to the public free of charge. It contains authors that have traditionally been used in college level instruction of Greek as well as editions that have been replaced in the full corpus by newer or different ones.

No subscription is needed but visitors will be asked to create a guest account and login with a user name and password.

Individuals

Individuals may subscribe for one or five years. Access is provided through password protected login.
